

ANNE GUNNING

I am a Certified Leadership Coach with over 20 years of business experience working with public, nonprofit, and private organizations in a range of industries at varying levels of maturity.

I have had success throughout my career in framing, structuring, scoping, and finding solutions to a wide range of complicated and occasionally ambiguous business situations. I work well in a team and can lead, influence, and organize internal and external partners.

I focus on assisting leaders in reaching their highest level of performance in all areas so that they can produce results and mentor others within the organization.
